“Dear Institute...”

Candid commentaries from candidates in psychoanalytic training

Edited by Himanshu Agrawal

This book is a collection of commentaries by 40 psychoanalysts-in training spanning across 29 different countries, shedding light on the state of contemporary psychoanalysis- its training, practice and relevance. Each contributor shares a piece of their mind-and their heart-about the trials and tribulations of the process of psychoanalytic training- what they cherished, what they loathed, why they spoke up, why they dropped out. This book is an important read for both prospective candidates as well as veteran psychoanalysts and institutional leaders.

A Field-Centred Approach to Gestalt Therapy

Agency and Response-ability in a Changing World

Lothar Gutjahr

Series: Gestalt Therapy Book Series

In Gestalt therapy, sociological, political, and economic research is often neglected or ignored. Drawing on analyses about current societal conditions, this book considers that there is no such thing as a 'postmodern' therapy and offers a new approach to Gestalt therapy. This important new book is at the cutting edge of the current discussion of relational and field-oriented approaches to Gestalt therapy, and will be of particular interest to practitioners of Gestalt therapy, psychotherapists, phenomenologists, as well as theorists of philosophy, sociology and therapy.

A Life of One's Own

Marion Milner

Series: Routledge Classics

In A Life of One's Own Marion Milner, a renowned British psychoanalyst, artist and autobiographer takes us on an extraordinary seven-year inward journey to discover what it is that makes her happy. On its first publication, W. H. Auden found the book "as exciting as a detective story" and, as Milner searches out clues, the reader quickly becomes involved in the chase. Anticipating the contemporary phenomenon of mindfulness, A Life of One's Own is a great adventure in thinking and living whose insights remain as fresh today as they were on the book's first publication in the 1930s. This Routledge Classics edition includes a revised Introduction by Rachel Bowlby.

A Psychologist's Casebook

Cases from Practice Used to Support Teaching Mental Health Practitioners

Esther M Roodenburg, John Roodenburg

Drawing on examples from clinical practice, this book presents evidence-based psychological principles in an applied context to support effective practice in the helping professions. This book takes a narrative approach, presenting a collection of case studies to complement the traditionally theory-heavy education and training of mental health professionals. Rich with examples from the authors' many years of clinical psychology practice and graduate teaching, this book is written for students and practitioners alike.

A Social Ontology of Psychosis

Genea-logical Treatise on Lacan's Conception of Psychosis

Diego Enrique Londoño-Paredes

Series: The Lines of the Symbolic in Psychoanalysis Series

In A Social Ontology of Psychosis, Diego Enrique Londoño-Paredes explores how to interpret and apply the concept of the signifier of the Name-of-the-Father in Lacanian theory, particularly in the context of working with psychosis. The book examines the evolution of the figure and the signifier of the Father from ancient Mesopotamia to Modernity. It aligns Searle's social ontology with Lacan's discourses, highlighting psychosis as an illustration of being outside discourse, particularly when the Name-of-the-Father is foreclosed. This book will be of interest to practitioners and scholars in psychoanalysis, philosophy, humanities, and the history of mental health and knowledge.

A Systemic Approach to Integrative Counselling

Rick Murphy

This book presents systemic psychotherapy to integrative counsellors by using the most common counselling modalities and turning them into systemic approaches. The Systemic Model for Integrative Counsellors teaches systemic theory and techniques gradually, delving into various ways for integrative counsellors to think from a systemic perspective, reframing a client's presenting problem as emerging from relationships and social context. It will provide qualified and trainee counsellors with an in-depth systemic outlook on counselling modalities. It is also a helpful guide for scholars and researchers in related fields.

Affects, Cognition, and Language as Foundations of Human Development

Paul C. Holinger

Affects, Cognition, and Language as Foundations of Human Development considers human development from the three most basic systems—affects (our earliest feelings), cognition, and language. Holinger explores how these systems enhance potential and help prevent problems, both in individuals and in societies. Affects, Cognition, and Language as Foundations of Human Development will not only appeal to psychologists, psychoanalysts, psychiatrists, and social workers but is also accessible to parents, educators, and policymakers.

An Experiment in Leisure

Marion Milner

Series: Routledge Classics

What is it that stops people from knowing what they want? How much of our experience is shaped by images, symbols and early memories - and do such things help or hinder one becoming an adult? Written in 1936, An Experiment in Leisure continues Marion Milner's unique and compelling investigation into how we lead our lives, complementing the account she began in A Life of One's Own. With a new foreword by Akshi Singh, it remains a striking and captivating adventure in thinking and living with uncertainty, whose insights remain fresh and relevant today.

Art that Tells the Truth

Creative Methods in Guidance and Counselling

Cover Image
Not Available

Edited by Reineke Lengelle, Deirdre Hughes Warwick University, UK, Liane Hambly Coventry University, UK

This enriching and inspiring book on creative methods demonstrates the power and effectiveness of the creative approach in guidance and counselling settings. The twenty chapters in this volume focus on the importance and joys of play, creative expression, and imagination in effective learning: as we develop, observe, and interact with our own creations we can arrive at fresh insights by tapping into the wisdom of the unconscious mind. Creative methods often provide a new perspective on difficult emotions and allow us to perceive what they're trying to tell us. The chapters in this book were originally published as special issues in British Journal of Guidance and Counselling.

Assessing and Treating Emotionally Inexpressive Men

Edited by Ronald F. Levant University of Akron, Ohio, USA, Shana Pryor University of Akron, Ohio, USA

Series: The Routledge Series on Counseling and Psychotherapy with Boys and Men

What if your new client, a man in his early 40s, cannot answer basic questions in your initial assessment interview? You were aware that many men do not like to talk about their feelings, but this client seems kind of frozen. You think he might be alexithymic, but you do not know how to assess for that, or even more importantly, how to treat it. Assessing and Treating Emotionally Inexpressive Men has answers. Clinicians will come away from this book with a clear sense for how to treat alexithymia in the early sessions of psychotherapy and thereby improve treatment uptake and outcomes.

Creating Meaning in Funerals

How Families and Communities Make Sense of Death

William G. Hoy Baylor University, Texas, USA

Creating Meaning in Funerals is a book about the ways in which bereaved families and communities create meaningful ceremonies against a backdrop of what is culturally appropriate, even when their choices might make little economic sense to those outside the culture. Readers will be repeatedly challenged to suspend their own biases and provide counseling support and encouragement to bereaved individuals for whom funerals were or were not effective means of coping with their loss. Discussion questions at the end of each chapter make the book useful for educational settings such as funeral service classroom instruction, thanatology classes, and grief counseling courses.

Depth Psychology, Cult Survivors, and the Role of the Daimon

Oppression, Agency, and Authenticity

Linda R. Quennec

Series: Advances in Mental Health Research

This book explores the possibilities that exist for navigating out of and away from multiple levels of oppression through memoir-based research, via the idea of "the daimon" and perspectives of Jungian and post-Jungian depth psychology. Suggesting a more aligned approach to working with varying levels of psychological constraint, and utilising a phenomenological hermeneutic study based in participant memoir, it will appeal to scholars and professionals in depth psychology, and other psychological orientations, who are interested in more deeply understanding the psychological mechanisms involved in leaving a high-demand group or other oppressive situations.

Grieving Beyond Gender

Understanding Diverse Grieving Styles

Kenneth J. Doka The College of New Rochelle, New York, USA, Terry L. Martin Hood College, Maryland, USA
Series: Series in Death, Dying, and Bereavement

The third edition of Grieving Beyond Gender explores the different ways that individuals grieve, noting that gender is only one factor that affects an individual's style or pattern of grief. Doka and Martin present a model firmly grounded in social science theory and research, and place special emphasis on the model's clinical implications. Clinicians will come away from this book with concrete tools for supporting different types of grievers through individual counseling or group support.

Kohut's Self Psychology for a Fractured World

New Ways of Understanding the Self and Human Community

John Hanwell Riker

Series: New Directions in Self Psychology

Drawing from Kohut's conceptualisation of self, Riker sets out how contemporary America's formulation of persons as autonomous, self-sufficient individuals is deeply injurious to the development of a vitalizing self-structure—a condition which lies behind much of the mental illness and social malaise of today's world. Informed by self psychology and philosophy, this book is essential reading for psychoanalysts, psychotherapists and philosophers, seeking to revisit and revise constructions of both self and humanity.

Psychoanalysis and the Unspoken

Joyce Slochower New York University Postdoctoral Program in Psychotherapy and Psychoanalysis, USA

Series: Psychoanalysis in a New Key

What do therapists not talk about? What do we ignore/miss/sidestep? What factors—personal, social, political—inform our areas of blindness? This book names and explores what psychoanalytic theory often skips over or simplifies—how, when, and why we fail to uphold the professional ideal. Turning a critical eye on her own theory, Slochower reflects on how it, she, and the field have evolved and what remains unspoken. In so doing, she pushes us to do the same. With its sharp focus on both theory and clinical work, this book is essential reading for psychoanalysts and psychotherapists.

Psychoanalysis as Radical Hospitality

Six Perspectives on Turning-to versus Turning-Away

Dana Amir Faculty Member, Haifa University, Israel

Series: Psychoanalysis in a New Key

This book focuses on different forms of turning toward versus turning away from speech across a range of experiences in clinical treatment and general life. Each chapter sheds light on a different angle of the psyche's ability to spot its own leverage point and use it to transcend the infinite varieties of helpless victimhood: from the position of the victim to the position of the witness, from being the object of the narrative to being its subject, and from the position of righteousness to the willingness to forgive and be forgiven. This book is a must read for psychoanalysts, psychotherapists, literary scholars, as well as philosophers of language and of the mind.

Shame and Grace

Six Essays on Falling Apart and Becoming Whole Again

Patricia A. DeYoung Private practice, Ontario, Canada

Shame silences our stories, crushes our spirits, and cuts us off from our hearts. How can we give voice to what has happened? Might we fall apart into suffering that would heal us? Could we honour desires we've disowned for a lifetime? How do we gather up our battered parts of self with tenderness? Could grief and love restore our hearts to us? In this book, shame theory meets memoir and meditation. Therapists, patients, and self-reflective readers from many walks of life will be moved and changed by time spent with this master clinician, thoughtful mentor, and fellow traveler.

The Power of Group Attachment

John Bowlby Revisited from a Group-Analytic Perspective

Arturo Ezquerro , María Cañete

Series: The New International Library of Group Analysis

The Power of Group Attachment provides evidence for the fundamental role that interpersonal and group attachment have played in our survival and evolution as individuals, groups, organisations, and species. Original, scholarly, yet personal and accessible, the book is addressed to mental health professionals and managers as well as politicians and educators: it expands the reader's social and democratic consciousness at this crucial time when our world is descending fast into pathology, global warming, and vicious violence stemming from unresolved personal and collective trauma.

The Relational Dimensions of Weight Management

A Therapist's Guide to Helping Patients Resolve Weight Concerns

Lawrence Josephs Adelphi University, New York, USA

The Relational Dimensions of Weight Management is a book for nonspecialist psychotherapists of any theoretical orientation to help patients concerned with weight management. Psychotherapy patients use their therapists as sounding boards to help them answer two questions: Do I need to lose weight? And, if I do need to lose weight, how should I go about it? Chapters provide therapists with the tools they need to help patients find personalized solutions to their weight loss concerns, to boost their self-image, and to deal with the judgment that is sometimes imposed by others, regardless of which weight management approach patients eventually embrace.

4TH EDITION

The Resilient Practitioner

Burnout and Compassion Fatigue Prevention and Self-Care Strategies for the Helping Professions, 4th ed

Thomas M. Skovholt University of Minnesota, USA,
Michelle Trotter-Mathison Private practice, Minnesota, USA

The Resilient Practitioner, 4th edition, builds on the first three editions and on the lived experience of practitioners in the helping, caring, and relationship-intense fields. Readers will find ongoing strengths of the last edition: self-reflection exercises in each chapter, a resiliency inventory for practitioners, a strong focus on research and an accessible writing style. The authors also continue to chart a hopeful path for practitioners, a path that allows for a high level of caring for others in the helping professions while also artfully caring for oneself.

Towards an Integrated Analytical Psychology

Return to Freedom and Dignity

Matthew Bennett

Towards an Integrated Analytical Psychology presents a comprehensive review of some of the salient philosophical, cultural, social, and clinical ingredients that have gone into contemporary visions of human personality development and psychotherapy, and proposes a "unified field" theory of mental representation which puts psychoanalytic, analytic, and cognitive-behavioral perspectives in a mutually integrative framework. This book offers a novel model of understanding personality and will be of direct and immediate use for psychotherapists and students of psychotherapy. It would also be of interest to social workers, marriage and family therapists and psychiatrists.

Trans-Generational Trauma After the Chinese Cultural Revolution

Transforming Wounds into Work Across Three Generations

Yao Lin

Based on interviews with three generations of three families, this book clarifies why the Cultural Revolution in China (1966-1976) had a uniquely traumatic impact on those affected, and shows the forms this trauma has taken in the lives of their second and third generations at both inter-subjective and intra-psychic levels. Bearing witness to a personal process of transforming a wound into work, this first-person account offers in-depth understanding and guidance for psychotherapists and psychoanalysts engaged in interrupting and healing trans-generational trauma.

Uncovering the Act of Maternal Infanticide from a Psychological, Political, and Jungian Perspective

Brooke Laufer

Using a wide range of disciplinary backgrounds, Laufer examines the topic of maternal infanticide through the lens of Jungian theory and presents an integrated and forensic view of this issue as an aggregate of personal and political moments, and as a feminine and feminist outcry urging human evolution. This is an important new book for Jungian and analytic clinicians and scholars with an interest in maternal archetypes, as well as psychologists and psychiatrists who specialise in perinatal mental health. It would also be appropriate for forensic psychologists and legal analysts, and academics and clinicians in the fields of women's health and studies.

A Brain Friendly Life

How to Manage Cognitive Overload and Reduce Glitching

Marisa Menchola

Modern life is brain-unfriendly: We are flooded with information and excessive cognitive demands, when we are often already depleted from chronic stress, sleep deprivation, and health issues. Many of us experience frequent 'glitches' or memory lapses, despite tests showing there is nothing wrong with our brains. This book provides concrete strategies, derived from neuropsychological science and clinical practice, to help people improve how they function in daily life.

A New Approach to Addiction and Choice

Akrasia and the Nature of Free Will

Reinout W. Wiers

The book looks at both classic substance use disorders and newer "addictions" to smartphones, meat and fossil fuels. It discusses current perspectives on free will in philosophy, psychology and neuroscience, and the questions surrounding free will vs. determinism, including our ability to steer our behaviours guided by the promise of future outcomes. Different perspectives on addiction and choice are presented in an eloquent style, and illustrated by personal stories.

Autoethnographies in Psychology and Mental Health

New Voices

Edited by Alec Grant, Jerome Carson

This autoethnographic volume gathers a multiplicity of different voices in autoethnographic research from across psychology and mental health disciplines to address topics ranging from selfhood, trauma, emotional understanding, clinical psychology, and the experience of grief. It collects new autoethnographic writers from across as diverse a range of disciplines and in doing makes a strong case for the legitimacy of subjectivity, emotionality and lived experience as epistemic and pedagogic resources. This work will be of interest to psychology and mental health students and professions with an interest in qualitative inquiry as it intersects with autoethnography and mental health.

Diversity, Inclusion and Culture Wars in Psychotherapy

Edited by Del Loewenthal University of Roehampton, UK

For the psychotherapist/psychological therapist, notions of diversity and inclusion, such as intersectional feminist, trans*, critical race/whiteness, migration, (in)equality, queer, disability, post-colonial, decolonial, approaches and studies, are both increasingly important, and yet increasingly difficult. This book explores these developments and raises important questions: Are these difficulties to do with the biases of the person who is the psychotherapist; and/or, could it also sometimes have to do with how diversity, inclusion and related terms are constructed? Chapters were originally published as special issue of European Journal of Psychotherapy and Counselling.

Introductory Psychology and the Human Condition

Cultural Adaptation in Pursuit of Self-Actualization

Jeffrey C. Levy Seton Hall University, USA

Introductory Psychology and the Human Condition provides an engaging, cohesive, and practical treatment of traditional psychological principles and theories. The book uses Maslow's human needs hierarchy and Bronfenbrenner's ecological theory of development as organizational schemas for considering how cultures have evolved to address human needs. It relates major psychological processes including biology, perception, motivation, learning, and cognition to lifespan and personality development in nomadic hunter-gatherer and technologically enhanced cultures. It is core reading for introductory students and will appeal also to a general audience interested in psychology.

4TH EDITION

Learning From Data

An Introduction to Statistical Reasoning using JASP

Arthur M. Glenberg, Matthew E. Andrzejewski

This fully updated 4th edition explores the foundations of statistical reasoning, focusing on how to interpret psychological data and statistical results. This edition includes three important new features. First, the book is closely integrated with the free statistical analysis program JASP. Second, reflecting the growing use of Bayesian analyses in the professional literature, this edition includes a chapter with an introduction to Bayesian statistics (also using JASP). Third, the revised text incorporates adjacent questions, that is, questions that challenge the student's understanding, after each major section.

Lifestyle Medicine from the Inside Out

Using Positive Psychology in Healthy Lifestyles for Positive Health

Liana S. Lianov, Jolanta Burke

Lifestyle Medicine From the Inside Out summarizes the principles, science and practice of how positive psychology can be integrated into lifestyle medicine for positive health in health care and self-care. This integration builds physical health and well-being, buffers against adversity and promotes personal growth after traumatic experiences. By intertwining healthy habits and positive psychology-based activities, including personal strengths and what is meaningful to each person, individuals can truly thrive. Such an approach is what the authors refer to as practicing 'lifestyle medicine from the inside out.'

Making Mental Health

A Critical History

Elizabeth Roberts-Pedersen

Series: Critical Approaches to Health

The book historicizes mental health by examining the concept from the 'madness' of the late 19th century to the changing ideas about its contemporary concerns and status. It argues that a critical approach to the history of psychiatry and mental health shows them to constitute a dual clinical-political project that gathered pace over the course of the twentieth century and continues to resonate in the present. Drawing on scholarship across several areas of historical inquiry as well as historical and contemporary clinical literature, the book uses a thematic approach to highlight decisive moments that demonstrate the stakes of this engagement in Anglo-American contexts.

No Words for Feelings

Alexithymia as a Fundamental Personality Dimension at the Interface of Cognition

Edited by Olivier Luminet, Kristy Nielson, Nathan Ridout Aston University, UK

Alexithymia is a multifaceted construct that is characterized by several facets, including difficulties identifying one's feelings; difficulties describing one's feelings to others; and an externally focused, utilitarian cognitive style. This book shows that the facets of alexithymia influence several aspects of how one perceives and responds to neutral and emotional situations, by impacting multiple cognitive processes (attention, appraisals, memory, language and behavior). The chapters in this book were originally published as a special issue of Cognition and Emotion.

The Athlete and Their Mechanisms of Defense

A Psychoanalytic Approach to Sport Psychology

Tom Ferraro

This important book explores the way athletes use defense mechanisms and coping skills to manage internal and external stress faced in competitive sport. Covering a range of case studies across various sports, the text showcases immature, neurotic and mature defences available to the athlete and describes the benefits and drawbacks of each. This invaluable text is geared towards the practitioners, researchers, psychoanalysts, and students in sport psychology who wish to look more deeply into why athletes struggle. It is also an ideal resource for athletes interested in understanding ways to cope with the unrelenting, exciting and at times overwhelming pressure of competitive sports.

The Behavior of Social Justice

Applying Behavior Analysis to Understand and Challenge Injustice

Natalie Parks, Francesca Barbieri, Ryan Sain, Shawn Thomas Capell, Beverly Kirby

This seminal work provides a framework for the study of social injustices that moves beyond just condemning others for their oppressive behaviors, outlining solutions that help work towards a more socially just society. It outlines the basic principles of applied behavior analysis, considers key tenets of social justice work, and examines how social justice work can be carried out on an individual and a wider institutional level. The Behavior of Social Justice is an essential reading for students and scholars of behavioral sciences, psychology, sociology and education, as well as academics and researchers interested in the study of social justice.

The Hand of Addiction

A Transcontextual and Autoethnographic Becoming

Weston Robins

Series: Concepts for Critical Psychology

The Hand of Addiction maps out addiction from an innovative and holistic perspective. Using the metaphor of a hand, the author examines addiction through five conceptual lenses- biomedical, psychological, sociocultural, developmental, and spiritual. The author constructs a transcontextual mapping of the potential of addiction, and challenges what we claim to know about addiction. This book will be of great interest to academics and postgraduate students in the fields of psychology, sociology, cultural studies and other related disciplines. It will also be relevant for those interested in the philosophy and ethnography of addiction, or those working in mental health.

The Human Biome and Human Behaviour

A Biopsychological Perspective

Jorge A. Colombo

The book represents a critical update on interactions between the host and its gut microbiome that conditions the socio-biology of the mind and behaviour. Additionally, it calls attention to open issues involving conceptual themes on neurobiological integration and its impact on early developmental and social domains on the typical extended period of human postnatal helplessness during which the basic scaffolding of mental development is completed. Graduate, postgraduate and teachers interested in areas connected with anthropology, social medicine, early education, and health policymakers will benefit greatly from this book.

The Psychological After-Effects of Covid

Post-Pandemic Complications and Interventions in India

Edited by Uzaina Uzaina , Rajesh Verma , Ruchi Pandey

This comprehensive resource provides a one-stop information repository, exploring all psychological aspects of Covid-19. It documents the after-effects of the Covid pandemic, and how it transformed India as a society and its citizens as individuals. The book covers the psycho-social impact on society and individuals and our collective behaviour, as well as coping strategies and interventions and how lessons learned will help in preparedness for the future. Including case studies and the latest research, this book examines how psycho-social paradigms changed as a result of the pandemic, and left their watermark on the human psyche.

The Psychology of Artificial Intelligence

Tony Prescott

Series: The Psychology of Everything

The Psychology of AI explores all aspects of the psychology–AI relationship, asking how closely AI can resemble humans, and whether this means they could have some form of self-awareness. It considers how AI systems have been developed using human intelligence models and the similarities between brains and computers, along with the current limitations of AI and how these could be overcome in the future. It also looks at how people interact with AI in their everyday lives, questioning some of the ethical and societal risks, such as bias in AI algorithms, and the consequences for our long-term future if AIs do surpass humans in important ways.

The Psychology of Memory

Megan Sumeracki , Althea Need Kaminske

The Psychology of Memory provides a unique insight into a fundamental part of being human, debunking many common misconceptions about what memory is, how memory works, and the accuracy of our memories. It explores the complexity of human memory, looking at how we remember different types of information and the impact of issues like ageing and emotion on how we create, store, and retrieve memories. Treating memory as malleable, dynamic, and active, The Psychology of Memory teaches us about how our individual memories function, and how we can harness this to see memory in a new way; to use the past, our experiences and information, in service of the present and future.

The Psychology of Trauma

Shanti Farrington, Alison Woodward

The Psychology of Trauma integrates the knowledge and research from clinical practice and neuroscience to offer a scientific approach to understanding and managing symptoms of trauma. It debunks the myths and prejudices around trauma-informed therapy, shifting people's view from 'What's wrong with you?' to 'What happened to you?', and provides an overview of the various different concepts and counselling approaches that are most suitable to support working with trauma. It also explores how neurodiversity, cultural differences, or social contexts affect the way we respond to any trauma.

The Recovery-Stress Questionnaires

A User Manual

Edited by Michael Kellmann Ruhr-Universität Bochum, Germany, K. Wolfgang Kallus

Series: Advances in Recovery and Stress Research

The Recovery-Stress Questionnaire (RESTQ) identifies the current recovery-stress states and provides a complete picture of the actual extent of stress and recovery. The RESTQ measures the frequency of current stress symptoms along with the frequency of recovery-associated activities to offer a differentiated picture of the current recovery stress state. There are five forms of the RESTQ and all versions take a modular structure and contain scales measuring specific aspects of stress and recovery in their field. This book is written for the scientific community, applied psychologists and health scientists, and interested readers.

Theories of Development

Concepts and Applications

William Crain

Theories of Development introduces students to the most influential theorists who have contributed to our understanding of how we develop as individuals. The book discusses the theorists who have built upon the developmental tradition established by Rousseau, along with other theorists, including ethologists and psychoanalysts, who share a developmental outlook. It considers the different concepts they present along with their practical implications, whilst also discussing the ways in which developmental theorists have anticipated and advanced humanistic ideas and insights.

Transgender and Non-Binary People in Everyday Sport

A Trans Feminist Approach to Improving Inclusion

Abby Barras

Series: Gender and Sexualities in Psychology

This formative work discusses the transgender people's inclusion in everyday sport in the UK. It adopts a trans feminist approach to explore pivotal topics regarding the barriers to participation faced by transgender and non-binary people. The author uses a critical social science approach to explore the heteropatriarchal construction of sport in the modern industrialised west, and how this has formed the backdrop to the continuing discrimination towards, many athletes, not just those who are transgender. This book is a crucial resource for researchers, academics, and students in the field of social science, sports organisations, policy makers activists and other related disciplines.

Trauma in Sentient Beings

Nature, Nurture and Nim

Antonina Anna Scarnà, Robert Ingersoll

This is a book about the bond between sentient beings. It explores the non-verbal space between two entities, and asks questions like: What is a healthy human being? Is it nature? Nurture? Nature via nurture? How are we born with personality traits, emotion, mood, language abilities, and intelligence? Robert, close friend and carer of Nim, gives the facts about Nim's upbringing and first degree relatives, and Anna reports with reference to theories of brain, personality, self, and language. Together they explain what can be drawn from psychological research and reanalyse the chimpanzee work from the 1960s and 1970s in order to honour and respect the memory of those animals.

When Face Recognition Goes Wrong

Catriona Havard

When Face Recognition Goes Wrong explores the myriad ways that humans and machines make mistakes in facial recognition. Adopting a critical stance throughout, the book explores why and how humans and machines make mistakes, covering topics including racial and gender biases, neuropsychological disorders, and widespread algorithm problems. The book features personal anecdotes alongside real-world examples to showcase the often life-changing consequences of facial recognition going wrong. These range from problems with everyday social interactions, through to eyewitness identification leading to miscarriages of justice and border control passport verification.

Women Who Kill

Violence, Trauma, and Forensic Psychology

Edited by Dr Lenore Walker , David Shapiro , Amanda E. Temares , Brandi N. Diaz

Women rarely kill. How and why a woman can be driven to lethal action is often highly complex and misunderstood. Many of these women who act lethally are driven to such a point as a last resort following prolonged experiences of child abuse and/or domestic violence. This book offers insights into these women, detailing their motivations, their patterns of violence, and how they can be aided through psychological evaluation and proper expert testimony. The chapters in this book were originally published as a special issue of Journal of Aggression, Maltreatment & Trauma.

Computerized Adaptive Testing

From Concept to Implementation

David J. Weiss, Alper Sahin

Used worldwide in assessment and professional certification contexts, computerized adaptive testing (CAT) offers a powerful means to measure individual differences or make classifications. This authoritative work provides a complete how-to guide for planning and implementing an effective CAT to create a test unique to each person in real time. The book reviews the basics of item response theory used in CAT and walks the reader through developing an item bank, pretesting and linking items, selecting required CAT options, and using simulations to design a CAT. Available software for CAT delivery is described, and engaging multidisciplinary examples illustrate diverse applications of CAT.

Introduction to Social Cognition

The Essential Questions and Ideas

Gordon B. Moskowitz Lehigh University, United States

Why are first impressions so powerful? How do we "know" what others are like when we cannot read their minds? How can scientists measure biases that people do not want to admit—or do not know they have? This engaging text delves into social cognition by exploring major questions in the field through an everyday lens. Students are introduced to core concepts, processes, and findings pertaining to how people come to know themselves and understand the behavior of others. The text connects the research to pressing contemporary problems—the roots of political polarization, why even rational people fall prey to misinformation, and the best ways to reduce prejudice.

Lenses on Reading, Fourth Edition

An Introduction to Theories and Models

Diane H. Tracey Kean University, United States, Lesley Mandel Morrow Rutgers University, United States

Now in a revised and updated fourth edition incorporating advances in research and instructional practices, this well-established text accessibly introduces theories and models related to reading. Coverage ranges from classical approaches to contemporary cognitive, social learning, physiological, and affective perspectives. The book emphasizes that the more lenses educators possess for examining reading processes, the better equipped they will be to understand and facilitate children's literacy development. Pedagogical features include framing and discussion questions, learning activities, teacher anecdotes, and examples of how each model is applied in classroom practice and research.

Mindfulness for Life

Willem Kuyken University of Oxford, United Kingdom

Mindfulness is easy to get started with, and people often experience benefits almost immediately. Why, then, do many initial enthusiasts end up dropping the practice after a short while? According to Oxford professor and leading mindfulness expert Willem Kuyken, it's because traditional mindfulness training is too far removed from how we actually live. This next-generation resource brings mindfulness home by teaching core skills in easy-to-integrate ways that touch directly on life's daily challenges. Dr. Kuyken provides stepping stones for building a personal practice that is sustainable, purposeful, and richly rewarding. Compelling guided practices include downloadable audio tracks.

Narcissistic Personality Disorder

Edited by Elsa Ronningstam

This volume presents significant recent advances in research and clinical practice in the area of pathological narcissism and narcissistic personality disorder (NPD). Originally published as a Special Supplement to the Journal of Personality Disorders, the book examines the neuroscientific and psychological underpinnings of NPD, describes cutting-edge diagnostic approaches, and explores the complexities of the therapeutic relationship. Addressing the "dos and don'ts" of clinical work with this population, the book reviews the status of specialized treatments—such as transference-focused psychotherapy and mentalization-based treatment—and identifies important directions for future research.

3RD EDITION

Principles and Practice of Psychiatric Rehabilitation, Third Edition

Promoting Recovery and Self-Determination

Patrick W. Corrigan, Nicolas Rüsch, Amy C. Watson, Kristin Kosyluk, Lindsay Sheehan

The leading text and go-to practitioner resource on psychiatric rehabilitation is now in a thoroughly revised third edition, bringing readers up to date on current ideas, findings, and evidence-based best practices. The expert authors present the knowledge needed to help adults with psychiatric disabilities develop their strengths and achieve their life goals. The book describes effective ways to assess personal needs and aspirations; integrate medical and psychosocial interventions; implement supportive services in such areas as housing, employment, education, substance use, and physical health; and combat stigma and discrimination.

2ND EDITION

Psychodynamic Therapy, Second Edition

A Guide to Evidence-Based Practice

Richard F. Summers, Jacques P. Barber, Sigal Zilcha-Mano

Firmly grounded in contemporary clinical practice and research, this pragmatic guide for professionals and students is now in a revised and expanded second edition. The book explains the theory underlying psychodynamic approaches and lays out a model for understanding psychopathology. Vivid case examples demonstrate how to tailor psychodynamic therapy effectively for individual patients. The authors provide a framework for diagnosing the patient's core psychodynamic problem and engaging the most useful mechanisms of change, using an integrative approach. Special topics include remote and hybrid treatment, combining therapy with psychopharmacology, and working with couples and families.

Social Skills Training for Schizophrenia, Third Edition

A Step-by-Step Guide

Kim T. Mueser, Alan S. Bellack and Clinical Center (MIRECC), United States, Susan Gingerich, Julie Agresta private practice, United States, Daniel Fulford Boston University, United States

The authoritative presentation of social skills training (SST)—a highly effective, recovery-oriented intervention for people with serious mental illness—the third edition of this manual has been significantly revised with over 60% new material. SST can be implemented by a range of providers in diverse settings. In a large-size format, the book is packed with practical tools, including vignettes, dialogues, reproducible Skill Sheets for teaching 84 skills, guidance for selecting skills based on participants' needs, and troubleshooting tips. Purchasers get access to a companion website with downloadable copies of the Skill Sheets as well as 84 Social Skill Handouts and other resources.

Structural Equation Modeling of Multiple Rater Data

Michael Eid, Christian Geiser, Tobias Koch

The use of multiple raters can improve the validity of self- (and other) reports of emotions, attitudes, goals, and other constructs. Yet analyzing these ratings requires special psychometric models. From leading authorities, this book offers the first comprehensive introduction to structural equation modeling (SEM) of multiple rater data. Rather than taking a one-size-fits-all approach, the book shows how model choice should be guided by measurement design and purpose. Models for different combinations of rater types and for cross-sectional as well as longitudinal research designs are described step by step. The companion website provides Mplus and R lavaan code for the book's examples.

Teaching Reading Comprehension to Students with Learning Difficulties, Third Edition

Sharon Vaughn, Alison Boardman, Janette K. Klingner

Series: The Guilford Series on Intensive Instruction

Now in a revised and expanded third edition, this important resource helps teachers understand how good readers comprehend text and how best to support students who are struggling. It presents effective instructional methods for learners at all grade levels, including those with reading disabilities. Every chapter translates research into practical classroom applications. All facets of comprehension are addressed, including assessment, vocabulary, background knowledge, and text structure. Chapters also cover English learners, intensive intervention, and content literacy. Utility as a teacher guide and course text is enhanced by sample lesson plans, graphic organizers, and study questions.

The Mindful Way through Depression, Second Edition

Freeing Yourself from Chronic Unhappiness

Mark Williams, John Teasdale, Zindel Segal, Jon Kabat-Zinn

Now in a revised and updated second edition, this authoritative, easy-to-use self-help program is grounded in mindfulness-based cognitive therapy (MBCT), a clinically proven approach. Through vivid stories and downloadable audio meditations encouragingly narrated by Jon Kabat-Zinn, the book shows how to break the mental habits that lead to despair—and recover a sense of joy, aliveness, and possibility. Revised throughout to be even more reader friendly, the second edition features fresh insights on coping with the challenges of our ever-changing world; the latest scientific data; and four additional audio tracks.

The Structured Literacy Planner

Designing Interventions for Common Reading Difficulties, Grades 1-9

Louise Spear-Swerling

Series: The Guilford Series on Intensive Instruction

Structured Literacy (SL) approaches are recognized as the gold standard for teaching struggling readers. This book walks educators through designing SL interventions for common types of reading difficulties—word reading, comprehension, or a combination. It offers tools for assessing students' reading profiles and tailoring SL to their needs. The volume is packed with case studies, sample lesson plans for both early and advanced stages of reading, downloadable reproducible forms, and application exercises. A chapter on English language structure presents key foundations for implementing SL. The companion website features a knowledge survey about language structure (with answer key)

Treating Traumatic Stress and Substance Misuse

A Guide to Integrative Practice

Denise Hien Rutgers University–New Brunswick, United States, Lisa Caren Litt The New School; Icahn School of Medicine at Mount Sinai, United States

From pioneering clinician-researchers, this book provides crucial guidance for treating co-occurring concerns that virtually all therapists are likely to encounter—and many feel ill equipped to handle. Denise Hien and Lisa Litt review the landscape of evidence-based treatments for posttraumatic stress disorder (PTSD), other trauma-related problems, and substance misuse, and present an integrative, culturally responsive framework for assessment and treatment planning. The book shows the clinician how to navigate the complexities of the treatment process while tailoring interventions flexibly and collaboratively to each client's needs. Two extended case examples run throughout the chapters.

Treatment Plans and Interventions in Couple Therapy

A Cognitive-Behavioral Approach

Norman B. Epstein, Mariana K. Falconier

Series: Treatment Plans and Interventions for Evidence-Based Psychotherapy

This book provides a complete toolkit for couple-focused cognitive-behavioral therapy (CBT). The book presents guidelines for planning and implementing evidence-based treatment for diverse couples. It explains how to assess relationship functioning, the strengths and needs of each partner, and their sociocultural context. Illustrated are ways to tailor CBT for couples struggling with partner aggression; infidelity; sexual problems; financial issues; parenting conflicts; depression, anxiety, and other individual problems; and more. Therapists of any theoretical orientation will find tools they can readily use. More than 20 ready-to-use client handouts are available to download and print.

User-Centered Assessment Design

An Integrated Methodology for Diverse Populations

Madhabi Chatterji

How can assessment instruments be designed or selected to best serve the needs of intended users, taking into account their interests, capacities, and limitations? Informed by a socioecological perspective, this timely reference and text presents an integrated, user-centered process model for developing assessments guided by user contexts. It demonstrates how to integrate qualitative and quantitative methods to devise tools that meet the quality criteria of usefulness and usability alongside validity and reliability. The book features worked-through examples with diverse, global populations; sample instruments from a variety of disciplines; and within-chapter Recaps and Reflection Breaks.

What Happens in Couple Therapy

A Casebook on Effective Practice

Edited by Douglas K. Snyder Texas A&M University, United States, Jay L. Lebow The Family Institute at Northwestern University, United States

Bringing contemporary couple therapy to life, this casebook candidly illustrates the "whats," "whys," and "how-tos" of leading clinical approaches. Well-known contributors provide a window into their work with couples seeking help for a variety of relationship challenges. Cases depict the moment-by-moment process of therapy, from the initial assessment and case formulation through the beginning, intermediate, and concluding phases. Themes addressed include working across cultural divides; helping couples living with psychological or medical disorders; and treating interfaith couples, military couples, and same-sex and queer couples. Each case is concisely introduced by the editors.

Writing and Publishing Qualitative Research

Patricia Leavy

Ideal for graduate students and seasoned qualitative researchers, this is the first guide to writing and publishing in both scholarly and popular formats—from journal articles and monographs to op-eds and fictional works. Patricia Leavy covers everything from how to develop a unique writer's voice to how to craft a successful book proposal, understand a publishing contract, and much more. The book is filled with tools for using data and theory in different genres, building a profile as a scholar, and getting research findings out into the world. Instructive features throughout include "dos and don'ts," sample letters and proposals, excerpts from published works, and writing activities.

A Practical Guide to Trauma-Sensitive Research

Integrating Trauma-Informed Frameworks into the Qualitative Research Lifecycle

Ayhan Alman

A Practical Guide to Trauma-Sensitive Research showcases the novel idea of trauma-informed interventions for researchers, proposing clinical supervision as the standard rather than the exception. This framework not only aids in managing the aftermath of trauma but also opens new opportunities for both clinicians and researchers. This book will be of great utility to User Experience (UX) Professionals. Additionally, it will be of value to clinical professionals like social workers, psychologists, and psychotherapists, offering insights and supervision on applying trauma-informed approaches in non-clinical research settings.

An Introduction to Metascience

The Discipline of Evaluating the Creation and Dissemination of Research

Gabriel Bennett Independent Researcher, Adelaide,
Emma Goodall Independent researcher

An Introduction to Metascience delves into core metascientific concepts, offering a critical examination of current knowledge creation processes and scrutinizing researchers and their methodologies across disciplines. This book stands alone as a comprehensive guide to metascience, offering readers a singular resource for understanding and implementing metascientific principles into their research practices. Designed for scientists and researchers, it caters to those interested in understanding how research evolves over time. It appeals to individuals eager to explore methods, practices, and philosophies of science to refine their approach to knowledge creation.

Analysing the Israel Effect in Canada

A Critical AutoEthnography

Peter Eglin

Analysing the Israel Effect documents and analyzes the discursive and organizational methods by which public criticism of Israel's oppression of the Palestinians is silenced in Canada, as experienced through ten episodes in the life of the author over a thirty-year period from 1990-2020 in interaction with his university and local and national Canadian news media. As a sociological work the book is a critical autoethnography. But it is also an atrocity tale, a horror story of institutional self-censorship amounting to the abrogation of intellectual responsibility by those specifically charged with upholding it.

Constructivism and the Metaphysics of Qualitative Research

John Paley

This book re-examines the philosophically-based, ontological and epistemological foundations that underlie all qualitative research principles. It shows that these metaphysical principles and pronouncements cannot in fact be referentially successful; for the researcher, they enact the *joining* of a research culture, but they do not *justify* it. The book proposes a meta-metaphysics based framework to move beyond the paradigmatic model. Suitable for researchers and graduate students in qualitative inquiry in healthcare, the social sciences and education.

Crafting Your Thesis

Making Use of Qualitative Approaches

Johan Alvehus

At the beginning of writing a thesis many questions arise, for example: How do I know that I have formulated a relevant research problem? Have I chosen the right empirical method? Are interviews or observations appropriate? How should I structure my text to get my point across in the best way? What exactly is a theory? How can the quality of my work be assessed? Crafting Your Thesis is a broad and accessible handbook in qualitative methods that gives you clear and concise answers to these questions. The book can be used both in introductory university courses right up to Master's thesis level.

Dissertation Practice

A Journal for Learning

Diane Bennett Durkin

Dissertation Practice: A Journal for Learning is an interactive resource that promotes journaling to engender key dissertation practices, through activities and exercises. It is rooted in the view that students can use journaling to promote thought, and that the privacy of journal entries ensures comfort and familiarity. This personal context, along with the book's open prompts, allows students to engage in extended and alternative thinking. This is an essential resource for students in Ph.D and Ed.D programs in the social sciences and education who are using qualitative, quantitative, and mixed methods.

Expanding Approaches to Thematic Analysis

Creative Engagements with Qualitative Data

Edited by Jennifer R. Wolgemuth , Kelly W. Guyotte , Stephanie Anne Shelton

Expanding Approaches to Thematic Analysis: Creative Engagements with Qualitative Data springboards readers into a world where generating themes from qualitative data is a creative, experimental, and wondrous process! This book is as much a provocation for engaging thematic analysis beyond/without/in addition to coding as it is a resource for anyone interested in the rationale, justification, and examples for doing so. As such, it is a source of inspiration for any qualitative student, researcher, and scholar who wishes to expand their repertoire of approaches to thematic analysis.

Narratives of Qualitative Research

Making Praxis Visible

Josh Tenenberg

Narratives of Qualitative Research uses a novel form of writing about how to do qualitative research called a praxis narrative. Each narrative is told from the author's perspective in carrying out one of his past research studies in the social sciences. This is fascinating reading for qualitative researchers, and students taking qualitative research courses, across the social sciences, education, and behavioural sciences.

Ngā Kūaha

Voices and Visions in Māori Healing and Psychiatry

Wiremu NiaNia , Allister Bush , David Epston

Series: Writing Lives: Ethnographic and Autoethnographic Narratives

The book looks at why this topic is of particular importance in mental health care with indigenous peoples. Expanding on the groundbreaking work and clinical partnership of Wiremu and Allister, the book presents stories of young people's experiences and care within a framework designed specifically to account for Māori spiritual beliefs and practices. This book will be valuable to all mental health practitioners, nurses and psychiatrists working with indigenous peoples, and will be valuable as a course text for medical schools in New Zealand, Australia and others, as well as all practitioners interested in shaping and improving mental health provision for indigenous peoples.

Postdigital Play and Global Education

Reconfiguring Research

Kerryn Dixon , Karin Murris , Joanne Peers , Theresa Giorza , Chanique Lawrence

Series: Postqualitative, New Materialist and Critical Posthumanist Research

Postdigital Play and Global Education is a re-turn to a large-scale, international project on children's digital play. Adopting postqualitative and posthumanist theories, research practices are reconfigured, all the way down from what counts as 'data', 'tools', 'instruments', 'transcription', 'research sites', 'researchers', to notions of responsibility and accountability in qualitative research. Through a series of vignettes involving complex human and more-than-human collaborators (e.g., GoPros, octopus, avatars, diaries, sack ball, LEGO bricks), the authors challenge who and what can be playful and creative across contexts in the global north and south.

Qualitative Inquiry in the Present Tense

Writing a New History

Edited by Norman K. Denzin University of Illinois, USA, Michael D. Giardina Florida State University, USA

Series: International Congress of Qualitative Inquiry Series

In Qualitative Inquiry in the Present Tense contributors engage with epistemological and philosophical questions concerning the conduct of qualitative inquiry in the present moment, and especially as it relates to various understandings of writing in/as inquiry. This evocative new book is a must-read for faculty and students alike who are interested in and engaged with questions and ideas oriented toward understanding our current historical present in qualitative research—a moment in which the field is perpetually in motion or in flux, with new theories, methods, and orientations arising, competing, and even contradicting one another.

The Routledge Handbook of Human Research Ethics and Integrity in Australia

Edited by Bruce M. Smyth, Michael A. Martin, Mandy Downing

Series: Routledge International Handbooks

This Handbook highlights why it is important to look at the subject of research ethics and integrity within the Australian context, and what the particular Australian perspective can offer to all researchers in the social sciences globally. The issues raised in this collection are likely to resonate beyond the Australian context, and will speak to social science and Education researchers in a variety of settings who find themselves grappling with thorny ethical issues ranging from the rapid evolution of data security and privacy issues, to research on how stolen cultural heritage can be respectfully ceded back to its rightful owners.

The Routledge International Handbook of Constructivist Grounded Theory in Educational Research

Edited by Elaine Keane, Robert Thornberg

Series: Routledge International Handbooks

This book provides a comprehensive overview of the state-of-the-art in Constructivist Grounded Theory (CGT) methodology, including core grounded theory tenets and processes as well as constructivist 'adaptations.' It makes explicit how CGT techniques and processes were implemented in the field, the way(s) in which challenges were navigated, and how educational researchers aligned their research processes to constructivist principles. This handbook provides guidance and education-specific examples to doctoral students and researchers who wish to use, or are using, CGT in educational research. It will also be of significant interest to qualitative researchers in other disciplines.

Visual Displays in Qualitative and Mixed Method Research

A Comprehensive Guide

Elizabeth G. Creamer

This boundary-spanning textbook explores diverse ways that visual display can advance understanding of complex social phenomenon in applied fields in the social and human sciences. It provides a window into the latest advances in mixed methods research by investigating how integrative tables and figures have been creatively adapted in diverse contemporary contexts where qualitative methods are prominent. Tailored for emerging scholars, this comprehensive resource book is invaluable for a new generation of hybrid research methods courses that combine qualitative and mixed methods in the social sciences, education and healthcare.

White Folks

Race and Identity in Rural America

Timothy J. Lensmire University of Minnesota, USA

Series: Writing Lives: Ethnographic and Autoethnographic Narratives

Drawing on in-depth interviews with Delores, Frank, William, Erin, Robert, Libby, and Stan, as well as on his own experiences growing up in this same rural community, Lensmire creates a portrait of white people that highlights the profound ambivalence that has characterized white thinking and feeling in relation to people of color for at least the last two hundred years. This second edition features a new preface—by renowned critical whiteness studies scholar David Roediger—that places the book in historical and political context. It also includes an expanded discussion by Lensmire on doing research on race with white people.
