3RD EDITION

Cultural Tourism

Hilary Du Cros, Bob McKercher

This remains the only book to bridge the gap between cultural tourism and cultural and heritage management. The first edition illustrated how heritage and tourism goals can be integrated in a management and marketing framework to produce sustainable cultural tourism. The current edition takes this further to base the discussion of cultural tourism in the theory and practice of cultural and heritage management (CM and CHM). Written by experts in both tourism and cultural heritage management, this book will enable professionals and students to gain a better understanding of their own and each other's roles in achieving sustainable cultural tourism.

3RD EDITION

Destination Brands

Nigel Morgan, Annette Pritchard, Roger Pride

This is the long awaited new edition of this pioneering marketing textbook. When the first edition was published in 2001, destination branding became a marginal, niche topic. Thanks in part to this book and the ongoing research of these authors, this is now a core subject for students and a key concern for tourism industry professionals. Many destinations - from individual cities to entire countries - are adopting branding strategies similar to those of leading household brand names in an effort to differentiate themselves and to emotionally connect with potential tourists. By focusing on a range of global case studies, Destination Brands demonstrates how all destinations whether big or small can successfully harness the power of branding.

3RD EDITION

Ecotourism

Transitioning to the 22nd Century

Stephen Wearing, Stephen Schweinsberg

Since the first edition of the title, ecotourism has become a major phenomenon in tourism and society in many countries and regions throughout the world. The profusion of experiences has generated a variety of means of theorizing, analysing and marketing ecotourism all that have yet to be encompassed in one book. Ecotourism fills the gap by synthesising the changes in thinking and society over the time since it was first published. This book is essential reading for higher-level and graduate students and researchers in tourism, sociology and geography. It will also be of interest to environmental groups and practitioners.

Event Policy

From Theory to Strategy

Malcolm Foley, David McGillivray, Gayle McPherson

Events Policy: From Theory to Strategy locates the phenomena of events within a theoretical and strategic framework and in doing so demonstrates the links between the development of events in policy-making and the theoretical exploration of the role of events as policy. Building on a strong coherent framework the book explores the conceptual terrain in which events and festivities are located, evaluates the range of theoretical perspectives pertinent to the study of events policy, appraises the socio-economic and socio-cultural implications of event-led policies internationally and draws together the main theoretical and event policy issues for the future. The text utilises a range of international cases to help demonstrate the relationships between theory and strategy.

Event Sponsorship

Ian McDonnell, Malcolm Moir

The text starts with an investigation of the origins of sponsorship and then considers all important elements of Events sponsorship management. It considers what is sponsorship, its history and evolution, what its marketing uses are, how it can be used efficiently; the benefits it can bring to an event; and how its results can be measured. To reflect changes in the way firms communicate with their customers, there is a strong focus on the use of social media, e – marketing and technology in sponsorship. The text uniquely considers topics of sponsorship from perspective of both the sponsor and the sponsee (the event) to provide a holistic view of the sponsorship process.

Events Marketing Management

A consumer perspective

Ivna Reic

This is the first book which reflects the unique characteristics of marketing in the Events industry by exploring both sides of the marketing coin – the supply and the demand – in the specific context of events. It begins by defining events and the implications this has for their marketing. It then explores the event marketing landscape and discusses the consumer experience. Finally it focuses on the strategies employed to manage the marketing activities related to events. The title introduces the reader to core principals as well as current developments such as e marketing, social media, sponsorship and PR.

Tourism and Development in the Developing World

David J. Telfer, Richard Sharpley

Series: Routledge Perspectives on Development

Tourism is widely considered to be an important factor in socio-economic development, particularly in less developed countries - but despite almost universal recognition of tourism's development potential, the extent to which economic and social progress is linked to the growth of a country's tourism sector remains a topic of intense debate. This book offers a thorough overview of the tourism-development relationship. Focusing specifically on the less developed world and drawing on contemporary case studies, the updated second edition questions widely-held assumptions on the role of tourism in development and seeks to highlight the challenges faced in tourism-based development.

Tourism, Poverty and Development

Andrew Holden

This book provides a holistic, explicit and detailed introduction to the relationship of poverty and tourism development within the context of developing countries. The book is divided into three distinct sections, progressing from an evaluation of the key concepts; to the causal factors of poverty; to how tourism is being implemented in policy and practice to reduce poverty and the relationship of tourism and poverty in the future. It integrates examples and original case studies from varying geographical developing regions including Latin American, Asia and Africa to show practical insights into tourism's role in poverty alleviation.

Events and Urban Regeneration

The Strategic Use of Events to Revitalise Cities

Andrew Smith

Events and Urban Regeneration is the first book to critically examine the use of events in regeneration by looking at a range of cities and a range of sporting, arts and cultural events projects. It analyzes varying theoretical perspectives to provide insight into why major events are important to contemporary cities. It examines the different ways in which events can assist regeneration, by reviewing good practice as well as problems and issues associated with this unconventional form of public policy. It identifies key issues faced by those tasked with using events to assist regeneration and suggests how practices could be improved in the future.
